EVENT NAME · MONTH 2026

A GW-branded deck, made with Beamer

One idea per slide, restraint, and strong contrast

GW Engineering

Presenter Name
Department or Unit

State the single most important point of the talk in one sentence.

An optional gloss in the serif accent, for the nuance the sentence leaves out.

SECTION OR TOPIC

A standard content slide with a short title

- Square buff bullets, four items at most
- Each item one line, each line one idea
- A sub-level exists
  - but is rarely needed

1. Numbered lists use Potomac display numerals
2. and the same body type

TILED CONTENT

Three parallel ideas as tiles

FIRST TILE

One or two sentences. The label above is uppercase and tracked.

SECOND TILE

Tiles share a Buff 20% fill and a buff top rule.

THIRD TILE

Keep the three the same height by writing similar lengths.

42

STAT TILE

$1.2M

WITH A GLOSS

serif, Potomac number

A caption line in the quiet gray, for sources and footnotes.

STAT CALLOUT

Big numbers tell the story on their own

12
FIRST INPUT

+

30
SECOND INPUT

=

42
THE RESULT
a one-line gloss in the serif accent

3×
ALTERNATIVE

75%
SIDE BY SIDE

75% OF THE TOTAL GOES HERE

25% THE REMAINDER GOES THERE

SPLIT LAYOUT

A visual on one side, the words on the other

The visual half takes a share pair, a figure, a formula or a photo; the text half takes a title and a few lines.

Use `[right]` to put the visual on the right.

SPLIT, VISUAL ON THE RIGHT

A title that may run to two lines

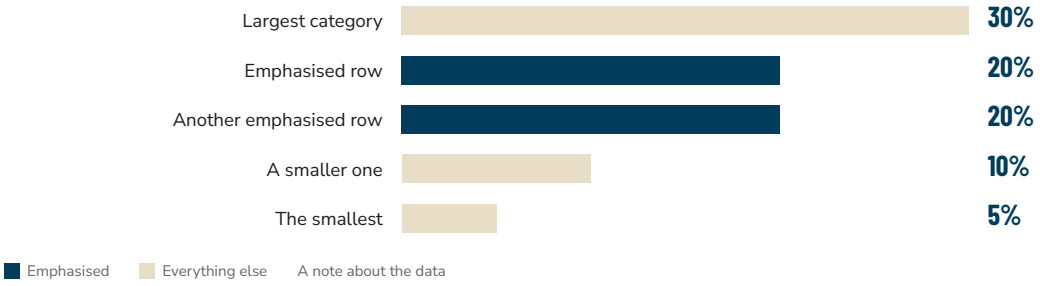

- A short list in the text column.
- Two or three items, no more.

$$\text{rate} = \frac{\text{weight} \times \text{pool}}{\text{people in the category}}$$

A formula set in the display face, with a caption-sized note under it.

BARS

Horizontal bars compare a handful of categories

FOR REFERENCE; USE ONE PER SLIDE

Ornaments and secondary type gate crossbar

★

star accent

HEAVY 2026

Oswald, for stamps and numerals

The serif accent, for glosses and quotes.

Reversed secondary

secondary accents: one per deck

PART TWO

A section divider, with its label above

The dark big idea closes the deck's dark—light—dark sandwich.

It carries the logo and echoes the cover's star pattern.

Thank you

Questions & discussion

GW Engineering